Summer Check List

Water Damage

With all the rain the area has seen, there is a good chance water may have invaded some parts of your structure

Insect Damage

Those critters have been busy during these hot spells.

Sun Damage

UV rays are brutal to your wood and its finish. Repair any damage early and use a UV resistant finish to protect your investment.

Plant Damage

Look for invasive root systems and vining plants that may have penetrated your home. These can cause serious damage once established.

Ask The LogDoctors

Questions From Our Customers

Q -When is the best time to media blast my log home?

A -Media blasting can be done almost anytime, but summer is best because we have more day light to work with.

Q -I have several layers of finishes on my logs and they are loosing their color. Whats the best method to restore my homes finish?

A -The secret to a great looking log home is the base wood you start with. If you don't remove all of the old finish, the new one will look blotchy and uneven. Media Blasting removes all of the old finish and any damaged surface so you can start fresh. This method is also environmentally friendlier than harsh chemicals. Once you have a good base to start from, use a high quality stain to protect your logs for years to come.

Q - I have a small section of damage on my log home. Do I have to replace the entire log?

A -No! The damaged portion can be cut out and replaced. But this usually takes professionals to do. You can end up doing more damage than what you started with resulting in more expense. Call the LogDoctors and have them evaluate what is the best solution. Remember that there could be hidden damage you may miss and have to repeat the repair in a year or two.

Q - My neighbor just painted his log home. I think it looks pretty good. Should I paint mine as well?

A -Not just no, but NO! Your logs need to breath, that is to say that moisture has to move in or out of the wood as the humidity changes. By sealing the logs with paint you prevent this natural process from taking place. The trapped moisture within the logs can cause cracks, twisting and log movement. Always use a high quality stain on your log home. Never paint it.

Q -We use our log home as a vacation destination and are not there most of the year. Are there programs available to insure our home is protected from weather events while we are gone?

A -Yes, The LogDoctors have several absentee owner maintenance programs available. These programs include landscaping and storm evaluation. There is one to fit your needs and provide you with peace of mind while you are gone. Emergency repair contracts are available so contact LogDoctors to see how affordable this protection can be.
